

The June Awrey Lecture

York University School of Nursing

June 13th, 2019

4 pm York University Bergeron Centre

Reception to Follow

The June Awrey Lecture aspires to engage students, faculty, alumni and others in ground-breaking ideas that will stimulate excellence in practice, leadership, education, policy and research. The inaugural June Awrey Lecture joyously coincides with the School's 25th anniversary celebrations. Given the enormous significance of the Truth and Reconciliation's recommendations for health care professional education, the school will welcome Dr. Lisa Bourque-Bearskin, RN, PhD as our inaugural speaker to continue the critical discourse and curricular adjustments rooted in decolonizing nursing and health care that have commenced in the school.

Dr. Bearskin is a member of the Beaver Lake Cree Nation, past president of the Canadian Indigenous Nurses' Association (CINA) and Associate Professor and researcher with the Thompson Rivers University, See: (<http://kamino.tru.ca/experts/home/main/bio.html?id=lbourquebearskin>)
